General Construction

MediContract is joined a Consortium who represents significantly the Italian network in the residential and infrastructure construction system. It is the point of reference inside ANIEM (National Association of Manufacturing and construction companies).

The Consortium is able to operate as a large general construction company with the combined flexibility and knowledge arising from the distinctive specialization of individual consortium members. This ability comes on from know-how and managerial skills networking of its members.

The Consortium undertakes projects both in Italy and abroad, involving the complete design and construction of infrastructure projects such as roads, highways, bridges, airports and ports, land reclamation and ground stabilization and consolidations, aqueducts and gas pipelines, hydraulic works, river and flood defense works, residential and industrial building both in traditional and pre-casted technologies, hospitals, industrial revamping, plant and technological engineering, environmental protection, landfill, water treatment plants such as water purification and water desalination.

It also has at its disposal all the expertise and facilities required for the production of bituminous conglomerates, high-resistance cement conglomerates.

Furthermore, The Consortium has responded swiftly to complex opportunities offered by project financing in all sectors including energy, environmental, and infrastructure works.
